INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGIES

The investment objective of the CI Synergy American Corporate Class (the Fund) is to obtain long-term appreciation of capital. It invests primarily in equity and equity-related securities of companies that the portfolio advisor believes have good growth potential. These companies are located in countries that have signed the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) (or its successor the United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA)). These countries currently include the United States, Canada and Mexico, but may also include countries that become members of NAFTA in the future.

In order to outperform the S&P 500 Index over the long term with similar or lower volatility, the portfolio advisor utilizes a proprietary screening process that identifies securities that meet criteria based on market capitalization, liquidity, analyst coverage and that show a combination of factors involving changes in earnings expectations. The portfolio advisor may also use quantitative analysis in his investment decisions.

The Fund may use derivatives, but only as permitted by securities regulations. In order to earn additional income, the Fund may also enter into securities lending transactions, repurchase transactions and reverse repurchase transactions, to the extent permitted by securities regulations.

For a complete discussion of the Fund's investment objective and strategies, please refer to the Fund's most recently filed simplified prospectus.

RISK

No changes affecting the overall level of risk associated with investing in the Fund were made during the period/year. The risks of the Fund remain as discussed in the Fund's most recently filed simplified prospectus or its amendments. The Manager reviews the risk rating for the Fund on an annual basis, at a minimum, based on the methodology mandated by the Canadian Securities Administrators to determine the risk level of the Fund. Any change to the risk rating made during the period/year was as a result of such review and was not a result of any change to the investment objective, strategies or management of the Fund.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund's net assets decreased by $6.8 million to $52.8 million from March 31, 2022 to March 31, 2023. The Fund had net redemptions of $5.5 million during the year. The portfolio's performance decreased assets by $1.2 million. The Fund paid distributions totalling $0.1 million. Series A shares returned -3.0% after fees and expenses for the one-year period ended March 31, 2023. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark returned -0.2%. The benchmark is the S&P 500 Total Return Index (the Benchmark or the Index).

The performance of the Fund's other Series is substantially similar to that of Series A shares, except for differences in the structure of fees and expenses. For the returns of the Fund's other Series, please refer to the "Past Performance" section.

January 2023 economic data showed that the U.S. economy was durable, with a robust labour market. Investors took historic tax losses at the end of 2022 and then got back into the market at the start of the year, which temporarily drove strong equity performance. This reversed in February as investors began to worry that more economic strength could result in higher interest rates for longer. March witnessed signs that the aggressive interest rate cuts of the U.S. Federal Reserve Board (Fed) were beginning to have a wider impact, including the failure of three U.S. regional banks.

The Fund underperformed its benchmark for the year. Underweight exposures to the energy and health care sectors detracted from the Fund's performance, as did stock selection in the information technology and materials sectors. The largest individual detractors from the Fund's performance included holdings in Union Pacific Corp. and Marvell Technology Inc. Like other cyclical stocks, railroads such as Union Pacific Corp. performed poorly in the uncertain economic backdrop. The company has added more headcount with the hope that this will lead to higher volumes and better service metrics. Marvell Technology Inc.'s stock underperformed as the company experienced weakening in its consumer-related segment while its data center segment was impacted by supply challenges. We expect the next quarter should see supply improvements along with new product ramps in data center companies.

An underweight exposure to the consumer discretionary sector and overweight allocation to the industrials sector contributed to the Fund's performance. Stock selection in the energy and financials sectors also contributed to the Fund's performance. Top individual contributors to the Fund's performance included a holding in Eli Lilly and Company. The company has a robust new product cycle, with the possibility of five new drug launches over the next two years. Two of these drugs could achieve sales over US$5 billion by the end of the decade. If the company can execute on the commercial side, we believe its growth rate should be double that of the industry. A lack of exposure to Tesla Inc. was another contributor to the Fund's performance. Tesla Inc.'s stock dropped 43% during the 12 months ended March 31, 2023. It is our belief that the company has a demand issue that stems from increasing electric vehicle competition.

A new position in Netflix Inc. was added to the Fund. The company plans to offer an advertising video-on-demand, which was seen as a way to boost subscribers at a time when many were becoming price sensitive. We believe many users would return to Netflix's platform if the company launched a cheaper, ad-supported offering. In our view, the company's crackdown on password sharing was likely to result in subscriber additions and should be an incremental source of revenue upside in the quarters to come. An existing Fund holding in Arthur J. Gallagher & Co. was increased based on the company's defensive growth characteristics. We believe the company continues to benefit from the hardening market in general commercial insurance, with little balance sheet risk.

A Fund holding in Morgan Stanley was eliminated amid lower capital markets activity, lower assets under management levels and the company's relatively high valuation. A Fund holding in Alphabet Inc. was trimmed as the company has struggled with an advertising slowdown. Moreover, aggressive actions taken by Microsoft Corp. on the artificial intelligence (AI) front have threatened Alphabet Inc.'s core Search business. While fears of market share loss to Microsoft Bing are likely overblown, the cost of running AI-based search is likely to weigh on the company's profitability.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

With consensus earnings forecasts for U.S. stocks (as measured by the S&P 500 Index) hovering around US$220 per share for the next 12 months, the current equity risk premium stands at approximately 195 basis points. This renders equities as unattractive as they were just prior to the great financial crisis of 2008-09. However, we are skeptical that consensus earnings forecasts are correct.

The Fed has embarked on its most aggressive interest rate campaign in over 40 years, and it is likely the effects of the Fed's actions have yet to play out. With excess savings dwindling and tightening financial conditions the likely reasons for three recent bank failures in the United States, we believe a recession is near. As such, stocks are likely to be even more expensive than they currently appear. At present, our preference is for companies that exhibit defensive qualities, low debt and high free cash flow generation.

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual financial statements.

(2) Management expense ratio is calculated based on expenses charged to the Fund (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets for the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of any underlying fund(s) expenses, if applicable. The Effective HST tax rate is calculated using the attribution percentage for each province based on shareholder residency and can be different from 13%.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period/year, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund(s), if applicable.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the fiscal period/year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a higher turnover rate and the performance of a Fund. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of the cost of purchases and the proceeds of sales of portfolio securities for the period/year, and excluding cash and short-term investments maturing in less than one year, and before assets acquired from a merger, if applicable, by the average of the monthly fair value of investments during the period/year.

(5) This information is provided for the period(s)/year(s) ended March 31.
