

Extended family pricing

CI Preferred Pricing™ offers the benefit of linking family members' accounts together to benefit from greater pricing discounts.

Creating a Family Group

Any combinations of the above family members are eligible to be linked within a single Family Group, along with their respective spouses.

Completion and submission of the Account Linking Form is all it takes. Talk to your financial advisor for assistance.

- Family members are not required to reside at the same address.
- Corporate accounts may also be linked (where any family member owns a majority of the voting equity).
- All account types are eligible (i.e. registered, non-registered, joint, TFSA, RESPs, etc.).
- All accounts holding CI mutual funds and segregated funds can be linked to contribute to pricing tier determination.
(Note: labour-sponsored funds and closed-end funds do not contribute towards pricing tier determination.)

Robert and his wife Marie have $250,000 of total qualifying investments. Their daughter and her husband also have $250,000 in total qualifying investments. By opting for extended family linking of their accounts, they maximize their savings because the price discounts are based on their combined $500,000 of qualifying Family Group assets.

¹This hypothetical example of a $500,000 investment is for illustrative purposes only. The $71,042 in estimated fee savings reflects reduced investment management and administration fees available by investing in the Class F2 version of a fund with a management expense ratio (MER) of 1.11% compared to the Class F version of the same fund with a higher MER of 1.34%. The calculation assumes a net annualized return over the 20 years of 6.23% for the Class F2 fund and a net annualized return of 6% for the Class F version of the same fund over the same period. The $71,042 in cost savings reflects the benefit of holding the lower MER class fund. Opportunities for additional fee savings are available by investing larger amounts and/or through linking additional accounts of eligible extended family members. The Class F2 version of Cambridge Asset Allocation Corporate Class has an estimated MER of 1.11% and the Class F version of the same fund had an MER of 1.34% as of September 30, 2017.
