PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

We entered the quarter with a strong economic backdrop underpinned by accelerating corporate earnings, synchronized economic growth and the recent passage of tax reform legislation in the U.S. that is expected to stimulate capital spending and bolster growth in the world’s largest economy. While it was evident that the economic backdrop was constructive, investors began to focus more intently on risks around inflation pressures, trade negotiations and rising short-term interest rates that have led to increased volatility this year. This volatility has created opportunities to deploy cash into new and existing positions that met our investment process criteria and reached our buy targets.

The portfolio delivered a positive return of 2.0% during the quarter. Performance was driven by holdings in the energy and consumer discretionary sectors. Within energy, Viper Energy Partners, Black Stone Minerals and Canadian Natural Resources were strong performers as rising oil prices drove the shares higher on the expectation of higher future cash flows. Within consumer discretionary, U.K.-based holdings in Whitbread and Compass Group performed well.

The quarter also included some detractors, particularly in the consumer staples sector where Walgreens Boots ended lower. Walgreens was negatively impacted after Amazon announced a more aggressive push into the pharmacy industry with the $1B purchase of a business called Pillpack. Amazon’s health care push has been rumored for some time and Walgreens strategy remains the same – to focus on improving the customer experience, develop deeper payor relationships, and drive operational efficiencies. It also announced a $10B buyback representing approximately 15% of its market cap, reflecting the company’s confidence in its strategy and competitive position.

We will remain disciplined to our bottom-up fundamental investment process that targets attractive risk-reward opportunities. When evaluating the investment merits of a business, we look at a broad range of scenarios to determine the potential upside as well as the potential downside in making an investment. This evaluation is an integral part of our investment process and helps us prepare for potential volatility. We will continue to monitor these developments and be ready to act if a compelling risk-adjusted return opportunity presents itself.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Commissions, trailing commissions, management fees and expenses all may be associated with mutual fund investments. Please read the prospectus before investing. The indicated rates of return are the historical annual compounded total returns including changes in security value and reinvestment of all dividends or distributions and do not take into account sales, redemption, distribution or optional charges or income taxes payable by any securityholder that would have reduced returns. Mutual funds are not guaranteed, their values change frequently and past performance may not be repeated.

Class F securities are generally only available to clients who have a fee-based account with their dealer. CI Investments Inc. does not pay trailing commissions to dealers who sell Class F securities, which means CI Investments Inc. can charge a lower management fee compared to other securities of the same Fund. A lower management fee may positively impact the performance data shown when compared to other securities of the same Fund.
